What aspects of the course contributed most to your learning? Please be as specific as possible.

I really enjoyed the discussion aspect.

making sure to look at rubrics and examples that were provided previously.

This class was one of the best structured online classes that I had this semester. The quizzes, notes, and readings all were very helpful.

Reading and reading notes

The readings and discussion posts made me think more about the topics, which helped me understand and reinforce the main ideas.

online discussion and text

The part that contributed to my learning the most was by far the readings. Without the readings, this course wouldn't have been easy for anyone. Also, the bonus reading notes each week. I was able to refer back to my notes on multiple occasions and that really helped to better my understanding of what our professor was trying to tell us.

What suggestions do you have to improve this class?

N/A

Having virtual classes explaining some content and lectures, instead of doing everything by ourselves. I know there is the office hours option, but it is not the same more explanation of the readings

Perhaps one Zoom session a week as a class if the course is online as a way to go over that week's topic in a lecture format. Most times students prefer this class session instead of office hours because we might not have questions but we would appreciate the professor going over it just to solidify our understanding or to uncover questions we didn't know we had.

I'm not sure how this would be possible in an online setting but to help get the responses to be argumentative, my understanding was that that was how the class was meant to be, and I'm sure it is in person but I didn't experience that.

Scheduled weekly zoom meetings to go over the notes.

I don't have many suggestions for this course, I thought it ran pretty smoothly. The only thing I would recommend would be more engagement from the professor on discussion board posts. I think those could have been more beneficial if Professor Shields would have contributed more to what he felt we needed to do to enrich the discussion.
